

Disclaimer

ChinaArtOdyssey serves as a facilitator of cultural, educational, and artistic travel experiences and is not a licensed travel agency, tour operator, or provider of transportation, accommodation, medical, or travel services.

Participation in this journey is entirely voluntary. Each participant is responsible for making their own travel decisions and assumes all risks associated with international travel, including but not limited to personal injury, illness, accidents, property loss or damage, travel delays, cancellations, political events, natural disasters, and other unforeseen circumstances.

ChinaArtOdyssey, its organizers, volunteers, partners, and representatives shall not be liable for any injury, loss, damage, expense, delay, inconvenience, or claim arising directly or indirectly from participation in this journey or from services provided by third-party suppliers, including airlines, hotels, transportation companies, guides, venues, and workshop providers.

Participants are solely responsible for obtaining appropriate travel insurance, medical insurance, passports, visas (if required), vaccinations, and any other travel documentation necessary for participation.

All itinerary details, activities, accommodations, and costs are subject to change without notice due to circumstances beyond the organizers' control.

By participating in this journey, participants acknowledge that they are traveling at their own risk and accept full responsibility for their personal health, safety, belongings, and travel arrangements.

Please Note: This journey is organized as a shared educational and cultural experience for independent participants who wish to travel together and enjoy the benefits of group learning, artistic exchange, and cultural exploration. Each participant remains responsible for their own travel decisions, personal safety, insurance coverage, and related expenses.
